

READER'S THEATER

---

TITLE: LIVING BETWEEN THE BINARIES OF CAPITALISM AND SOCIALISM

As part of events marking the Golden Jubilee celebration of the African Studies Program at OU, the School of Communication in conjunction with the African Studies Program presents the above-titled script in a reader's theater to the Ohio University community and the city of Athens. This is an autobiographical narrative of a series of childhood events of a Ph.D. student from Ghana.

"We have heard the civil rights stories, but not the Cold War antics from the frontlines. It is time to give them rendition in the great theaters." Prosper Yao Tsikata.

---

Presenter: Prosper Yao Tsikata
School of Communication Studies
Ohio University

Date: Thursday, September 12, 2013
Time: 5:15 P.M. – 6:00 P.M. Mustapha Braimah leads a contemporary African dance and aerobics.
Time: 6:05 P.M. – 7:20 P.M. Reading for the theater
Venue: Baker University Center (BUC) Theater, Ohio University