

Clinical Mental Health Counseling

Students, Postgraduates, and Licensed Professionals

ATTENTION

Research Participants Needed!

Purpose

This study, Creativity and Multiculturalism among Counselors-in-Training and Licensed Counselors: Quantitative Inquiry, aims to explore if creativity and other factors can predict multicultural counseling self-efficacy.

Participation Requirements

- Graduated from a CACREP-accredited Clinical Mental Health Counseling program
- OR-
- A fieldwork student in a CACREP-accredited Clinical Mental Health Counseling program

Not eligible if:

- Work or study outside of the United States
- Inactive in the counseling profession
- Attend Capella University
- Have a revoked license or license under disciplinary action
- feel overwhelmed by your mental health

The Process:

This research study is conducted via a secure and anonymous online survey. Participation is estimated to take 15-20 minutes.

Scan the code or visit the

<https://thecreativecc.com/research>

This study is part of the researcher's doctoral education program

Contact for Questions

Principal Researcher: Brianna Kriley, MS, LMHC, NCC

PhD candidate at Capella University

KrileyCapellaStudy@gmail.com

Research Mentor: Daniel Williamson, Ph.D., LPC(TX), LPCC-S (KY), NCC, ACS, HS-BCP

