Sarah McBride

National Press Secretary for the Human Rights Campaign (HRC)

In 2012, Sarah made national headlines when she came out as transgender while serving as American University's student body president. Prior to coming to HRC, Sarah worked on LGBTQ equality at the Center for American Progress and was the first trans woman to serve as a White House intern. In 2016, Sarah became the first openly transgender person to address a major party political convention when she spoke at the Democratic National Convention.
