

Intern with one of America's most admired companies!
Summer internship opportunities available nationwide with Nalco Water, an Ecolab Company!

Ohio University engineering students looking for an opportunity to gain diverse experience in an internship role should apply! Interns acquire valuable hands-on experience solving real customer problems to balance customer needs with a 'safety-first' focus.

Informational Session Thursday, November 16th from 6-7 p.m. in ARC 314 Pizza will be provided!

NALCO Water, an Ecolab company, is the world's largest sustainability services company. Focused on industrial water, energy and air applications, we are reinventing the way water is managed. From the time water enters a facility, until the moment it is returned back in the environment, it's a critical component of our customers' businesses. We use expertise and innovation to help them manage their water and measure success one drop at a time.

Opportunity for Personal and Career Growth

Nearly a quarter million Ecolab employees work in cities, towns and communities around the world. Nalco Water strives to be a workplace that attracts the best and brightest young employees. We believe that the success of our people is vital to the success of the company. We are committed to a culture that provides diverse career choices and opportunities for professional growth.