

Hi there,

I'm Hannah Wittmer, Recruitment Director for the Direct Action & Research Training (DART) Center, a network of community organizations working to address social and economic justice issues in 20 cities across the country. Every year we hire a small cohort of highly talented individuals and train them to become grassroots community organizers within the DART network. I'm writing to request your assistance in identifying qualified individuals for these opportunities.

We are hosting an information session next week for individuals interested in learning more about these grassroots community organizing careers. We have posted information about the positions with the career center's job board, but are particularly interested in connecting with students and alumni involved with Greek Life.

Last fall, 2014 OU grad Camille Davis attended our information session on the recommendation of Prof. Eddith Dashiell. She was one of six organizers hired from more than 400 applicants for our June 2014 cohort, and she's doing excellent work with our organization in Evansville, IN. We would love to add another Bobcat to our team in 2015.

Take care,
Hannah
