

Supply Purchasing Directions:

I would like to help you prepare for the HCIA 181 class. There are going to be many art materials necessary for this class - and I have found better shopping prices online than I have at local retailers in Athens. To make your shopping as easy as possible I would like you to follow these directions.

1. Go to this website: www.dickblick.com
2. Select "wish list" - it's near the upper right-hand side of the website
3. Enter my name: "Crane"
4. Enter "Athens" and "OH" where indicated.
5. Open my wish list. It contains everything except one item, which you will need for the class. You can order almost everything here - make sure you notice the quantities I have asked for - you will need more than 1 of a few of the items.
6. Complete your order and move to the next website.
7. Go to: www.utrecht.com
8. Look for the following item: Color Aid 220 Package 4.5 x 6
9. Select that item and complete the order.

You are not required to use these sites for purchasing. You may shop around and see if you can find things competitively priced elsewhere. If you purchase outside of this website, please make sure to only use a high quality tempera paint. (Make sure to look for the specific colors). If you have any of these items, you do not need to purchase new ones. The advantage of looking at the website is that you will find a picture and a description of the items I am requesting. This should help you if you decide to shop elsewhere. Also, there is a Dick Blick Store in Columbus, if you are in the area any time soon.

There is also a textbook for this class - it is available at the College Bookstore - or you can find it elsewhere online. I am including an attachment that provides you a complete list of supplies with estimated costs (see Supply List). This supply list may seem expensive to you – but I can guarantee that you get what you pay for when using art materials. I have selected high quality, student grade materials (which does provide a good savings). You will need these materials or equivalent materials to complete the assignments in the class.

If you have any problems or questions – please feel free to email me. I would suggest ordering your supplies immediately, to make sure they arrive by the first week of class. Also, the College Book Store will not have all the supplies that we are using for this class. So, if you are at home or outside of Athens for the break – shop around before returning. Once you are back in the local area, you might have some luck at Crafts 2000 in Parkersburg, or in Columbus.
